Newsletter - November 2025

Thanksgiving and the winter holidays are just around the corner. This will be the last newsletter for 2025.

I truly appreciate your interest and support.

Wishing you an enjoyable holiday and space to create for 2026.

Jennifer

I have two upcoming shows.

Montgomery County Artist Exhibition at Strathmore

Strathmore Mansion from Nov 22 - Jan 10

Artist Reception Saturday, Nov 22, 1 to 3 pm

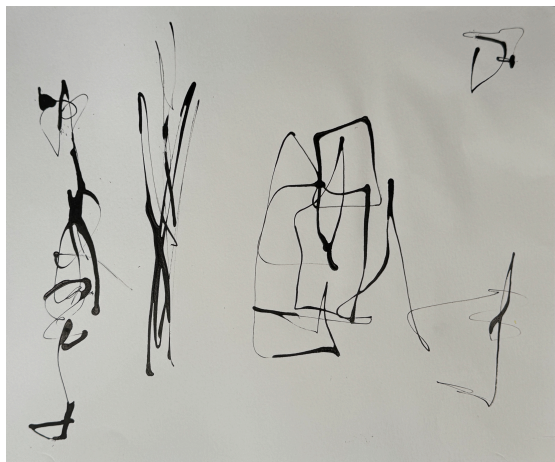

Women Artists of the DMV

Falls Church Gallery, Jan 10 - Feb 22, 2026

Art Escape to New Orleans

A wonderful trip to NOLA was just what I needed. A week away to study with Audrey Phillips and a group of fabulous artists. With plenty of time for exploring, the theme of the week was "let 'er rip." I started what I hope will become my Playground series (thank you Vicki for the inspiration). Mostly I explored mark-making combined with paint. Of course, there was lots of delicious food and great music to hear as well.

Montgomery County Artist Exhibition at Strathmore

For the first time, members of the Montgomery County Artist Association will have a members-only show at the lovely Strathmore Mansion. Over 600 Members of the Association were invited to apply, with over 50 Members chosen to be in this show. I am so pleased to be included in that number. If you haven't been to the Strathmore, it is just off Rockville Pike in a lovely large house on beautiful grounds. It's worth a visit and include time to enjoy the house and the grounds.

YOU'RE INVITED!

The opening reception will be Saturday, November 22 from 1 to 3 pm.

The Strathmore is located at 10701 Rockville Pike, N. Bethesda MD. It is open Tuesday through Friday 12 - 4 pm; Sat 10 - 3. The Mansion will be closed from December 25 to January 3.

Women Artists of the DMV

Lenny Campello has organized one of the largest curated art exhibitions ever staged in the United States. women Artists of the DMV will be at 19 venues in DC, Maryland and Virginia during various months from September 2025 through February 2026. One of the reasons prompting Mr. Campello to start this undertaking was a sense that local artists were underrepresented in metro area museums. Check out his letter to the Smithsonian (hyperlink below).

I am honored to be included in this monumental exhibition; my piece will be at the Falls Church Gallery from January 10 until February 22, 2026. There will be an opening reception on Saturday, January 10, from 7 to 9 pm (unfortunately, I will miss that reception).

The gallery is located at 700-B W. Broad St, Falls Church VA. Hours are:

Tuesday-Friday - 11 am - 6 pm

Saturday - 11 am - 4 pm

Sunday - 11 am - 4 pm

Moment of Zen

I don't have a new moment of zen but a report on a previous one - the free, 10 minute a day meditation series led by Jack Kornfield and Tara Brach. It is a 40 "day" series of meditations and I put "day" in quotes as it is easy to do them when you can. There is no requirement that it be completed in 40 days. I'm writing to report that I finished the 40 episodes and it took me quite a few months. It was absolutely worth it, so much so that I'm going back to do it again. I highly recommend it. Check it out through the link below. Free, 10 minutes a day, no time pressure.... well that's just hard to beat.
